FOR ALL WALKS OF LIFE from WALKING WITH GOD By: David Jeremiah

*He will not allow your foot to be moved; He who keeps you will not slumber.
-Psalm 121:3*

A tire shop in Milwaukee advertised, "Invite us to your next blowout." An optometrist said, "If you don't see what you're looking for, you've come to the right place." And a California land-scraper boasted, "We're easy to get a lawn with." But when it comes to clever slogans, maybe the podiatrist had the best one when he said, "Put your feet in our hands!"

Most of us have learned that if our feet hurt, we hurt all over - and our feet hurt when we're wearing the wrong shoes. Another podiatrist said, "Time wounds all heels." The point is that when we slip our feet into gospel shoes, we feel good all over! When we are shod with the gospel of peace, we needn't be anxious as we walk through life. We cast all our cares on the One who said:

"Do not worry about your life" -Matthew 6:25.

God's shoes are easy on our souls!

If you are at peace with God through Jesus, then you are shod with peace... His presence is an abiding reality in your experience. -C. A. Fox

GOD'S PHONE NUMBER: J-E-R-E-M-I-A-H 33:3

"Call to Me, and I will answer you and show you great and mighty things which you do not know." -Jeremiah 33:3

The cheerful man will do more at the same time, do it better, and preserve it longer than the sad or sullen. - Thomas Carlyle

"When a man is gloomy, everything seems to go wrong; when he is cheerful, everything seems to be right." -Proverbs 15:15 TLB

A MESSAGE FROM OUR INTERIM MINISTER

“Three times I besought the Lord about this, that it should leave me; but he said to me ‘My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness.’ 2 Corinthians 12:8

This promise extends to every believer, but its context is one of severe difficulties, distress, persecution, and human weakness. Paul pours out his heart amid severe attacks on his character and ministry. He had given so much to the Corinthians; some turned on him with bitter animosity. His enemies had called his integrity into question. They had questioned his loyalty and leadership abilities. They had doubted and denied his love for believers. To top it off, he was given a thorn in the flesh. This was probably the most significant single barrage of abuse Paul had ever received, and apparently, leaders within the Church were fueling it.

The tremendous pain he knew came from some of the people he loved the most. Their rejection, betrayal, criticism, false accusations, and even hatred cut deep into his heart. That makes Paul’s situation very practical because the same pain that hit him can strike every believer.

Paul doesn’t say, “I went to my therapist, read a book, attended a seminar.” Paul took a route many feels is too simplistic. He entreated the Lord. He appealed to God to remove the thorn three times, and God said, “No.”

Paul was content with God’s answer, “No,” because God said, “My grace is sufficient.” God answered Paul’s prayer by not granting his request but by supplying sufficient grace for Paul to endure it. Like Paul, we might ask God to remove some thorn of pain or suffering, only to discover that God wants it to remain. Yielding to His will at such times is the cornerstone of Christian living.

This same suffering that reveals our weaknesses reveals God’s strength. When we are least effective in our human strength and have only God’s power to sustain us, then we are suitable channels through which his power flows. Paul didn’t love abuse but loved the grace and power God manifested in him.

What a contrast to our society. Many think that sheltering believers from all difficulties is the highest expression of God’s grace. Most people are discontent because they wrongly equate satisfaction with favorable circumstances and increased possessions. This is a result of our self-centered, godless society. Sin is defined by how it affects man, not how it dishonors God. The focus has shifted from God’s glory to man’s benefit. It says, “Jesus is your ticket to avoiding all of life’s pain and experiencing all of life’s pleasures.”

God has always used suffering to perfect and purify His people and demonstrate His grace.

Christians today are consumed with the trials and troubles of life. Caught up with difficulties, sorrows, and anguish, desperately looking for some great new secret, higher spiritual level, and more effective relief than they think they have in Christ. There is no need for that. God’s grace is sufficient.
